MESSAGE FROM THE DESK OF VICE-CHANCELLOR

I deem it my privilege and honour to head the institution of higher learning that has come into existence for the reasons. The mandate of the University is to serve the tribal communities which have been sidelined and marginalized for centuries and consequently they have remained underdeveloped and undernourished. Tribal arts, literature, Tribal medicine and Tribal Philosophy have received very less attention from the connoisseurs of art and literature and social scientists. Anthropologists also have not paid the amount of attention that they should have paid. But the University, during the last few years, has taken the initiatives to address the tribal issues that have taken the University to greater heights.

I am pleased with the progress that the University has made in terms of academics, administration, infrastructure and finance during the last four years. It is with the hard labour, dedication and commitment that we have been able to make a big difference to the place and the University as a whole has been able to grow from strength to strength. The academic programmes offered by the University on its main campus at Amarkantak as well as on its regional campus at Manipur, the globally competitive syllabus, the adaptation of CBCS and wide scale reforms in exams, the number of projects that the faculty members have got for the University, the quality of research being undertaken and the quality of publications being brought out with high impact factor in national and international peer reviewed journals speak volumes about the extent of progress that the University has made. Nothing can be more gratifying than this for a Vice Chancellor. This is the reason why I said that I am happy to head an institution that worships work, that is transparent in its approaches and that has an absolute commitment to the jobs on hand. I take this opportunity to thank every single colleague of mine. Be it a Dean or Head, be it a Statuary Officer, or a faculty or an employee; they all deserve appreciation both as individuals and as a community. It is with their unconditional support and unswerving commitment that I have been able to do something on the campus that is visible to the naked eyes. I am happy to say that the University has got its own status among the institutes of higher learning in the country and it has carved a niche for itself across the globe.

Coming to the prospectus, let me first thank the Committee that has prepared it in the shortest possible time. The prospectus aims at giving a clear picture of the University as a whole and it is rather a mirror held up to the overall progress that the University has made as well as to the intellectual, material and spiritual treasure that it has in store for all the aspirant young people in the country. It introduces IGNTU to the community of bright, aspirant and young boys and girls who are desirous of seeking admission to various Honours (UG), PG and PhD Programmes. As the head of this University, I can state that this is the right place of learning and research for the bright and ambitious young boys and girls who wish to acquire knowledge viz a viz wisdom which is not generally imparted in the classroom, who wish to become a part of the tranquil, serene, peaceful and spiritually charged natural climate that is prevailing in and around the place where IGNTU is located and thereby becomes a part of historic growth that takes place not just once in a year that rather at every minute and at every step. I assure you that we are here to take care of you in every sense of the term and help you possess skills, knowledge and wisdom that can give you the necessary strength to compete with anybody and everybody at the national and international levels. If you take a step to come to us, we take two in welcoming you and giving you our best.

I wish all the best to the bright, aspirant, ambitious youth of this country.

ABOUT AMARKANTAK

Amarkantak a famous Hindu Pilgrim town, located in the State of Madhya Pradesh in India at 22.67°N 81.75°E and is also a part of the Achanakmar-Amarkantak Biosphere Reserve, known for rarest endangered herbal plants like Gulbakawali, Brahmi, Patal Kumhda Vidari Kand, Akarkara, Brahma, Shivlingi, Anantmool, etc and other faunal species, including tiger and leopard.

This pilgrim town with approximately 7000 inhabitants along with tribal villages with tribes prominently Gond, Baiga, Panika, Kol and Agaria in adjoining forest areas is located in the meeting point between the Vindhya and the Satpura Ranges, with the Mekhal Hills being the fulcrum. Amarkantak is known for its birth place of the great river Narmada

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES

The tribal people are rich in terms of morality culture, art and crafts. But in matters of higher education and policy making they are at the receiving end. In the present age of globalization the world has shrunk into a village as the society has advanced in technology. But the tribes, who are the custodians of Indian culture in the real sense of the term, are far behind in this race of advancement. In order to rescue the tribe from the present plight, the University has set the following aims and objectives to achieve.

relating to tribes and to provide inputs to the Government(s) on policy matters in different spheres.

- ❑ To take appropriate measures for promoting the tribal communities to be able to manage, administer and look after their own needs by accessing to higher education through a university of their own.
- ❑ To disseminate and advance knowledge by providing instructional and research facilities in such other branches of learning as it may deem fit.
- ❑ To take appropriate measures to promote innovations in the teaching learning process in the context of inter-disciplinary studies and researches and to pay special attention to improve social, educational and economic conditions and welfare of the scheduled tribes within the Union of India.

apart from the origin of Sone River and Johila River. This holy place is the abode of Goddess Narmada. This mystic power, the Hindu Pilgrim Center attracted Adi Shankaracharya and Poet Kabir, spelled bound many spiritual and peace seekers with its solitude and sacredness. A group of temples built by Kalachuri Maharaja Karnadeva of Kalachuri period has reminded it as an ancient Hindu religious center. There is a perfect match between the significance of Amarkantak, situated at an average elevation of 1048 metres (3438 ft) and the vision, mission, motto, objectives and goals of this National Tribal University. This University has fulfilled a long dream and demand of tribal populations of our country by offering UG, Diploma PG, Diploma, PG and PhD Programme to 3380 students with much focus on the preservation of tribal culture and heritage in the course curriculums at its main and regional campus after 60 years of India's Independence.

Situated at 22°40.9' N. latitude and 81°45.2' E. Longitude, 1067 meters above the sea level in the district of Anuppur in Madhya Pradesh, Amarkantak perches the Mekal Mountain that links the Vindhyan and the Satpura ranges. It is about 70 Kms away from the district headquarter. Three important rivers i.e. the Narmada, the Son and the Johila originate from here forming the lifeline of a major part of the country. The place has its religious importance too. The Kalachuri rulers constructed a cluster of temples that is still intact, of which, Mahendranath and Pataleshwar temples are more important. These temples are protected by the Archaeological Survey of India. There are about 12 temples. The Narmada temple is more important among them, which has been built around the springhead of the river. The temple was built by the Bhonsles of Nagpur. Maharaja Gulab Singh belonging to the Baghela Dynasty of Rewa constructed the outer boundary wall of the temple complex. The geographical set up of Amarkantak has bestowed upon it the everlasting greenery and serene beauty.
