UNIVERSITY SCIENCE INSTRUMENTATION CENTRE (USIC)

As per the UGC's ingenious plan every Indian University must have a Science Instruments Centre. In fact, the creation of such a centre is becoming obligatory for every university for the reason that the modern day science demands the use of precision equipments for the acceptability of data. Such centres help stop duplication of sophisticated equipments, which cost huge amounts and in turn help in regulating the use of the sanctioned money in the most judicious way.

This University has established USIC, which is housed on the ground floor of the School for Environmental Sciences building. USIC has three precision equipments:

1. Scanning Electron Microscope, (SEM, Model JSM-6490 LV of JEOL, and Japan) with EDX facility and two preparatory units, viz., Critical Point Dryer and Ion Sputter Coater;
2. Fourier Transform Infrared Spectrometer with ATR - Attenuated Total Reflectance (FT-IR Spectrometer, Model Nicolet <sup>TM</sup> 6700 OF Thermo Scientific, USA);
3. Fast Performance Liquid Chromatography (FPLC, Model EKTA 10 of GE Healthcare Bioscience. Sweden). These equipments have been procured and are under regular use in USIC.
